VALUABLE APPOMATTOX LAND FOR SALE. The subscriber is authorised by the legatees and heirs of Edward Dillon, dec'd., to sell that portion of the Sandy Ford Tract of Land, which lies in the county of Sandy Ford Tract of Land, which lies in the county of Cumberland, on the north side of Appomattox river, and adjoining the lands of Messrs. James and Francis Anderson, and Col. N. Penick. This portion of the Sandy Ford Tract contains, by survey, 520 acres—180 of which are first rate low grounds, and about 290 acres in woods, the balance cleared high land. It is situated in a most healthy country, in the midst of fine society, being distant from Hampden Sidney College about eight miles, from Farmville four miles, and Raines' Tavern six miles. This tract is considered to be not inferior in quality to any tract of its size on the river. Persons disposed to purchase, can apply to my brother, Richard M. Dillon, for information relating to the situation of the property and the terms of sale.

I will also sell a Tract containing 250 acres, lying in the county of Halifax, on the main Stage road leading from the Court-House to Coles' Ferry, and adjoining the lands of Dr. Lynn, Mrs. Roberts, and Wm. Bruce. This tract contains about 30 acres creek low grounds, and about one hundred acres of wood land. Persons disposed to purchase, can ascertain the terms, by applying in person to the subscriber, or by directing their letters to him at Farmville, Prince Edward. The sons of Mrs. toberts, who live near the land, will show the property, I will also sell ten shares of old Appointation stock, October 16. [47-14t] JAMES H. DILLON. VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.—The subeoriber offers for sale his tract of Land, lying in the ounty of Chesterfield, eight miles above Richmond, and county of Chesterfield, eight miles above Richmond, and within a half mile of James River, containing 550 acres, of about equal portions of cleared and wood land. This Farm has been so improved by careful management and the use of clover and plaster, that nearly the whole of it now produces clover kindly. About 20 acres are good creek meadow, a part of which is in herd's grass and produces fine crops. The wood has just been cleared away from 50 acres of good tobacco land, which may be brought into cultivation with very little labor.— The wood land is valuable from its contiguity to the River, and the facility with which the wood can be carried to Richmond. The wood is worth 80 cents per cord as it stands on the land, and contracts for the sale of several hundred cords at that price annually, can now be made. The improvements are nearly new, and now be made. The improvements are nearly new, and sufficient for the comfortable accommodation of a family. The situation is healthy and the water fine. During my absence, applications may be addressed to my brother, Col. Peter F. Smith, of Manchester, (who is fully empowered to sell and convey the land,) or to my Manager, Mr. Thomas Cheatham, upon the premises, who will show the land to persons disposed to purchase it.

P. S.—I wish also to sell 86 acres of land, upon most of which the wood is manding, lying within three and a half miles of Manchester, adjoining the lands of Mr. Green Hall, Mr. Fisher and others.

50 REWARD.—Ran away from the subscriber, living at the Kanawha Salines, on Saturday the 3d instant, a negro man named Ronts, (usually called Bon.) about 40 years of age, 5 feet 8 or 40 inches high, quite thin or spare, and very black; sharp nose and chin, and forehead quite high, or inclined to baldness.—In walking, he stoops forward, and steps very long; supposed to wear a black for hat, blue coat, and perhaps boots. It is thought that he is making his way to the City of Richmond, near which place he was raised, by a Mr. Thompson, (as is believed,) and by whom he claims that he was emancipated. He was sold in the county of Mason, a few years ago, as a runaway slave, for jail fees, and is now the property of Blackwell Chillen, Esq., of this county. The above reward will be given for his apprehension and delivery to me, if taken beyond Kanawha and Fayette counties, and all reasonable charges also paid; and $25 if taken in either of those counties.

MOANOKE LAND FOR SALE.—Designing to move to the South-West, I propose to sell the following valuable real estate: One tract of land, lying on the South side of Roanoke River, in the counties of Mecklenburg. Virginia, and Warren, North Carolina, 35 miles above Weldon and 16 above Wilkins' Ferry, containing 1,300 acres; of which, about 600 are bottom, of superior goality. superior quality—100 in original wood, and first-rate plant land. Of the high land, about 100 acres only have been cleared; the balance is heavily timbered, and of good quality for the production of wheat and tobacco.—The improvements curbrace every building necessary for a quarter plantation—mostly new, and in good order.— The tobacco barns are unusually good, built chiefly within the three years last past, and sufficient to secure a crop of 60,000 pounds. I can, with confidence, pronounce this one of the very best estates on the Roanoke, nounce this one of the very best estates on the Roanoke, of its extent, and few, if any, are in so good a situation for immediate profitable planting. It is very convenient to the Petersburg and Richmond markets, and will shortly be equally so to that of Norfolk, by means of the Portsmouth Rail-road, now rapidly tending to its completion. Excellent springs abound in all parts of the plantation—and I know it to be remarkably healthy, having resided on it, with my family, for two years. My Physician's bills for attendance on more than 60 negroes, have not exceeded 40 dollars for the last five years.

THE ST. LAWRENCE RESOLUTIONS. The expression of the Democracy of St. Lawrence upon the prominent public topics of the day, is distinguished that the upon the prominent public topics of the day, is distinguished for the strength and ability of manner that characterize the author of the resolutions. And their source, we apprehend, will be easily recognized. Upon all the questions to which they refer, they are direct, pertinent, and conclusive; and particularly so in their indignant reprobation of the mad and mischievous schemes of the Abaltimories. Various can be more severe nor more Abolitionists. Nothing can be more severe, nor more just, than the exposure of the sinister designs of those who seek agitation and evil under the pretence of "free discussion." — Albany Argus.

ST. LAWRENCE COUNTY. At a County Convention of Republican Delegates convened at Carton, on the 7th of October instant, David Lillie, Esq. of Potsdam was called to the Chair, and John Horton, of Madrid, and Bela Hough, of Gover-neur, were appointed Secretaries.

On motion of Mr. Gillet, the Convention proceeded to ballot for candidates to be supported at the ensuing elec-

On ballotting for members of Assembly, Hon. Preston King, of Oswegatchie, and Hon. WILLIAM S. Pabbock, of Massena, had every vote, and were declared unanimously nominated.

On ballotting for county clerk, ALVIN C. Low of Canton, had every vote, save two, and was declared duly no-inared.

On motion, Resolved, That a committee of five be appointed by the Chairman to draw resolutions, whereupon the Chairman announced the following committee:

Richard N. Harrison, Aaron T. Hopkins, Alfred Hardin, David H. Gray, Abel Goddard.

After retiring a short time, the committee returned, and the following resolutions were reported by Mr. Harrison, Chairman of the Committee, and on being read were unanimously adopted:

Resolved. That this Convention will yield its cordial and earnest support to the election of the candidates this day nominated for members of Assembly for the county, and for the county clerk; and to the nosmation of Senator for this District, as heretofore made by the Republican Convention at Caldwell:—And the Republicans of the county are earnestly solicited not to permit any apparent apathy of their opponents to diminish their activity or cool their zeal for the full and triumphant success of their principles and measures, and to bear constantly ty or cool their zeal for the full and triumphant success of their principles and measures, and to bear constantly in mind, that by the election of public servants who will act under the influence of those principles, and by the election of such servants only, can Republican measures be made the measures of an administration.—It matters not whether the Opposition assume the boistcrous tone of expected. of confident success, or the silent appearance of expected defeat; the object in either attitude, is the same; the election of anti-republican candidates, the adoption of anti-republican measures, and the establishment of anti-

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Convention the selection of candidates for the support of the Republican electors, whether of a County, of a State, or of the Nation, by regularly delegated Conventions, is a mode of nomination better calculated than any other within our knowledge, to accuracy and ideas its knowledge, to procure candidates "honest, capable and faithful to the Constitution," to secure harmony and concentration of action in their support, and to continue the ascendancy of Republican principles. We therefore ap-prove of the National Convention thus delegated and prove of the National Convention und delegate and held at Baltimore in May last, and promise for the nomi-nations made by that body of Republicans, acting in their representative capacities, our firm and active support.

Resolved, That we continue to find in the measures of our present National Admininistration that constant and our present National Admininistration that constant and scrupulous regard to the public interests and to the welfare of the wnole people, which has ever characterized every public act of the venerable patriot at whe head of that Administration, and which has given to ANDREW JACKSON a hold upon the affections of the people of the United States, more strongly and firmly and flatteringly exhibited upon every presentment of that honest patriot to their direct action. While it is true that no statesman or public servant of this country has ever experienced so ungenerous, unjust, active and desperate an opposition as has presented itself to every worthy public act of his whole hie, we are proudly conscious that our intelligent people have never more triumphantly sustained any unbils servant in his whole course. public servant in his whole course, and that no man has ever been excited by his enemies to more bold and useful and patriotic measures. His Administration, and the courses and conduct of the prominent among his opponents, will soon become matter for impartial history, and his supporters may anticipate the page with pride and

Resolved, That our confidence in our distinguished fellow-citizen, Marris Van Buren, now before the Re-publicans of the Union as a candidate for the Presideney, is increased by every effort, fruitless as they are frequent, of his powerful and untiring opponents to slace him politically in the wrong; and that, while we have seen his whole political life regulated by the principles and precepts of the immortal Jeffenson, we are compelled to believe that his uniform and bold and efficient pelled to believe that his uniform and bold and efficient support of the Administration of Andrew Jackson, sufficiently developed his character and principles as a Statesman to the whole Union, to give him (what we know he is entitled to receive) the cordial and zealous support of the Democracy of all the States. If, thus supported, his election shall be defeated, be it so. The triumph will not be over him, but over Republican principles, and he will remain where he has ever been, with his friends, the Democracy of the country.

resolved, That Richard M. Johnson, the republican candidate for the Vice Presidency, is commended to our warm and earnest support by a period of nearly thirty years of faithful and patriotic public services, civil and military, during all which long period, his country, whether in danger from foreign or domestic foes, has found in him an able and fearless defender, and her most needy citizens an ardeat and universe Grigord. in him an able and learness defender, and her most needy citizens an ardent and untiring friend. The appliances of the Opposition to this distinguished patriot before his nomination, and their persecutions since, show, if such evidence were needed, that his demerits grew out of his firm adherence to his long cherished republican princi-ples and his consequent refusal to be made the instrument of their machinations against the republican party; and that while, if he would have consented to serve them, he would have been in their report worthy of all confidence and all praise, his yet unhealed wounds re-ceived upon the battle field of his country are insuffi-cient to protect him from their most vile abuse and most gross misrepresentation.

Resolved, That we view the rapid advancement of our

Resolved. That we view the rapid advancement of our State in all that constitutes a prosperous and ealightened and happy people, under the wise and faithful administration of our able Governor and his constitutional aids and advisers, with a degree of pride and confidence, greatly increased and strengthened by the unparalleled and unnatural efforts made by a desperate Opposition, as well in as out of the State, within the last two years, to change our prosperity to the deepest adversity; to derange our domestic institutions, destroy our trade, cat off our public resources, shut up the markets for our agricultural products, and visit us with universal bank-ruptcy, and poverty and want; all of which efforts here agricultural products, and visit us with universal bankruptcy, and poverty and want; all of which efforts, heing met as they were by firmness and wisdom, have only had a tendency to rouse the energies of our citizens, and to hasten them in their march of successful enterprise.

The time has now arrived, when it is our duty, as it is our pleasure, to say to those fearless and faithful public servants under whose guidance these great evils have been averted, and this great good has been accomplished, "well done!"—Go on in your patriotic measures and exertions, and lead us to yet higher attainments; but be cautions, be vigilant, and bear constantly in mind that cautions, be vigilant, and bear constantly in mind that the combination of enemies which brought "paaie" and "pressure" upon us, and threatened rain, yet exists, and that defeat has not destroyed the disposition to visit us for evil.

Resolved, That the conduct of the managers of the Bank of the United States for the last few months fornishes the strongest evidence that the death-struggle of that powerful and dangerous institution is yet to come. The extension of its loans with a rapidity and in amounta hitherto wholly unexampled, even in its extravagant history, sufficiently evinces the disposition again to draw the business men of the community within its power, and the recent curtailments and peremptory calls upon the State Banks for specie, afford strong indications that the time is near when the influence of these extended loans is to be tried with the benefits derived from the exloans is to be tried with the benefits derived from the experience of a failure in a similar attempt. These movements call loudly upon the Republicans of the whole country to prepare themselves for another effectual and final resistance against the re-charter of this corrupt monopoly, and equally loudly upon all business men, and especially upon the State Banks to prepare themselves against another and more desperate effort to produce universal "panic," and "pressure," and "bankruptey."

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Convention, no the value of property, the safety of credit and the sound-ness and solvency of the Banks.

Resolved, That the action of our Legislature, at its last session, in gradually prohibiting the circulation of small bank notes, and thus coming promptly to the aid of the national Administration in its patriotic effort to infuse into the circulating medium of the country a due proportion of the precious metals, merits and receives our thanks and approbation, and we earnestly solicit the Banks of this State to give their utmost aid to carry the law referred to into full and complete effect, as a measure eminently calculated to give stability to our currency, to strengthen the public confidence in our banking system, and to give to the Banks themselves an additional and certain dependence for gold and silver in times of the

And whereas certain restless and dangerous and evildisposed persons residing in this and other of the Northern States have recently devoted themselves to the work of raising an excitement throughout the country, upon the subject of slavery, and have, in their mad and incendiary efforts, come to distegard and trample upon the Constitution of the country, that sucred charter of American liberty, and to urge, in defiance of the guarantees contained in that compact between the States, the immediate emancipation of the slaves of the South and West, thereby disregarding and trespassing upon the sacred rights of private property of the individual citizens of the slave-holding States, the sovereignty of those States over their domestic relations and municipal affairs, and the rights secured to them by that Constitution which constitutes them members of our blessed and happy confederacy; endangering the peace and safety and happiness of those States, by exciting the Slaves to insurrection and rebellion; using means eminently calculated to involve those States in an intestine servile war, which if once produced must inevitably end in the final and utter extermination of the whites or blacks; producing the immediate and unavoidable necessity of increased rigor and severity from the master towards the slave, by circulating among the latter, scatiments of disobedience and resistance to lawful authority, and thus rendering indescribably worse the condition of the slave himself; and in addition to those exertions to produce confusion, and mischief, and anarchy, and bloodshed, at the South, the labors of these mad incendiaries are directly calculated and seem deliberately intended to give strength and activity and virulence to local prejudices, already unlappily existing between the d south, the labors of these misd incendiaries are directly calculated and scein deliberately intended to give strength and activity and virulence to local prejudices, already unhappily existing between the different sections of the country, arising from local causes and the conflicting local interests of the various sections, and to add to the existing prejudices and jealousies, others of a more passionate and malignant character, and much more likely to lead to a speedy dissolution of our barpy Union, and to the entire destruction of that system of Government devised and established by the labor and toil and privations and perils of our fathers of the Revolution, and cemented by their blood freely and profusely shed for the accomplishment of that great and glorious object: And what is more daring and impious, and demands more imperiously the reprobation of all good men, is the startling fact, that all these efforts at mischief and misrule are by their wicked authors attempted to be sanctified under the hypocritical pretensions of conscientious duty and an obedience to the mild and peaceful and charitable precepts of the pure and undefield religion of the Saviour of the world; and among those most active and influential in the movements of sedition, are found a large proportion of those whose profession it is to preach that gossel of means and loss and fession it is to preach that gossel of means and loss and fession it is to preach that gossel or means and loss.

those most active and influential in the movements of sedition, are found a large proportion of those whose profession it is to preach that gospel of peace and love. In the opinion of this Convention, movements of this character in our prosperous country, and especially emanating from such sources, and thus hypocritically veiled under the assumed garb of moral duty and religious zeal, ought to meet the prompt exposure and severe reprehension of every good and patriotic citizen, and of every body of citizens assembled to consider of the political and social condition of the country—Therefore,

Resolved, That we entertain towards the agitators of the slave question, and of the immediate abolition of the slaves in the United States, no other feelings than these of profound regret and utter abhorrence, considering as of profound regret and utter abhorrence, considering as we do, that the whole subject has been definitively settled by the Constitution of the United States, as far as the non-slaveholding States are concerned, and has been entirely placed at the discretion of the slave-holding entirely placed at the discretion of the slave-holding States, each State acting by and for itself, as sovereign and independent, in reference to the whole matter. We regret the agitation, because, without the least possible promise of good results either to freemen or slaves, either to our white or black population, it is certain to produce the worst of technics between the shave-holding and non-slave-holding States; to cause the necessity of increased severity from the master towards the slave and therefore render worse his contowards the slave, and therefore render worse his conditions; and because it is eminently calculated to pro duce a servile war between masters and slaves, and thus dringe one portion of our fair land in blood, as it is to lead to a speedy dissolution of the Union of the States and the consequent overthrow and destruction of our government, the freest and happiest known to the history of the earth. And we ablur the agitators because, with a full and perfect knowledge, or a constant and loud warning of those incalculable evils to grow out of their mad and incendiary schemes, they increase exertion with the increase of danger, and show themselves as inhuman as their conduct proves them unpatriotic.

Resolved, That when the dissemination of insurrectious and incendiary publications, addressed not to the reason but to the passions and angry feelings of the community, and calculated solely to array the prejudices of one portion of our fellow-citizens against another, and to excite rebellion, bloodshed and murder in our peaceful country, is termed the simple exercise of the constitutional and unquestioned right of "free discussion," the duce a servile war between masters and slaves, country, is termed the simple exercise of the constitutional and unquestioned right of "free discussion," the perversion of language is too palpable and too gross to deceive an intelligent people, and presents, on the part of the incendiaries, an attempt to take from crime its legal and just responsibilities, by the use of soft and specious names, too simple and uncovered to shield them from the merited indignation of the patriot and philanthropist, or from the fruit of their evil deeds.

Resolved, That to whatever extent sudden excitement and religious enthusiasm might have been urged as palliating the conduct of the agitators of the slave question in its inception, the time has now gone by when the most extended charity can listen to such an apology for the mad conduct of the professed teacher of religion and morality at the North, who devotes his time and talents to the continued agitation of this exciting and dangerous to the continued agitation of this exciting and dangerous question, or for the desperate politician at the South, who having failed in his attempt to dismeraber the Union by the gross heresics of Nullification, now seizes this incendiary torch to hurl at the temple of our liberty; and we consider it a duty we owe to our country to call upon every patriot of whatever political faith, and upon every real friend of good order, good morals, and religion, to raise their voice and their exertions against attempts so wilfully and wickedly persevered in, and so dangerous to all that is valuable in our civil institutions and our religious freedom.

Resolved, That the attempt now making to form a Resolved, That the attempt now making to form a State Society in this State to promote the immediate abolition of slavery is a movement in open defiance of the almost ananimous expression of public opinion in all quarters of the State, and presents the actors in the attempt before the country in a character as reckless and unenviable as the most bold and daring disturbers of the public peace could exhibit.—We look forward to the proposed mening at Lifes with the atmost confidence that public peace could exhibit.—We look forward to the pro-posed meeting at Utica with the utmost confidence that it will prove to the satisfaction of all, the entire want of the countenance of good men in such a proceeding, and will show to those who have made the call, that they are as destitute of aid from the moral and patriotic as they are of love for their country, for peace and its liberties, or of a regard for the opinions and feeclings of their fel-low-citizens. ow-citizens.

or of a regard for the opinions and feeelings of their fellow-citizens.

Resolved, That the rights guaranteed by the Constitution to each State, and to the citizens of each State, are equally binding upon all the States and upon all the citizens of all the States, and that the defence of all such rights in their full, constitutional extent, is a duty binding upon the conscience of every citizen of every State who has sworn to support the Constitution of his country—Whoever, therefore, violates any such right knowingly and wilfully, violates his oath as a free citizen of the United States and works a moral forfeiture of his high privileges. If such men shall continue to he found in our country and shall attempt to avail themselves of the laws of the State where they reside, while they use their residences as masked batteries from which to throw firebrands, arrows and death into sister States, it may become the duty of the Executives of the States to determine how far they can, as upright and faithful magistrates, withhold them from the justice of the laws of the States they shall thus violate and outrage; and should the madness of these incendiaries force upon the Executive of any State the decision of this great question, we have the fullest confidence that the duty will be met and discharged with firmness and impartuality, and strictly in obedience to the laws of the land.
